

We have been talking about Law and Gospel, and if humans can really be good. In last week's entry, Rev. Vishal Paul answers that question, which leads us back to the Gospel. But how does the process work? The Director of Communications (Dr. T) calls on Rev. Brad Schollenberg to provide us with some answers in today's Conversation:

Dr. T: How does the Gospel actually change a person?

Rev. Schollenberg: Listen to the Conversation here.

Rev. Brad Schollenberg is a proud father and grandfather. Married to Heidi, the couple has been blessed with four children and several grandchildren. Rev. Schollenberg is now a retired pastor, having served Peace Lutheran Church in central region for over 30 years.

Rev. Schollenberg is on a roll—and is not ready to stop just yet. Join us next week for the rest of this Conversation as we journey back to basics . . .
